

JUDGE WORK MAKES PECULIAR RULING.

Establishes Precedent Regarding Dower Interest in Coal Land.

MAKES THE RATIO 3 TO 1

Pittsburg Coal Company Must Pay
Dower Interest in Estate of Late
James C. Higinbotham for Redstone Township Coal.

UNIONTOWN June 7.—Judge J. C. Work in Orphans Court this morning made an order which establishes a precedent regarding the dower interest in coal and surface lands. Judge Work rules that where dower interest is charged against land unenclosed with coal where the coal is owned by parties other than the owners of the surface the charge of dower against the property must be paid in proportion to the value of the coal and the surface.

In the case at issue Judge Work held that the coal was three times more valuable than the surface and made the rule absolute on the Pittsburg Coal Company to show cause why it should not pay the dower interest claimed against it.

James C. Higinbotham who died in 1870 owned 191 acres of coal in Redstone township. The son George Higinbotham elected to take the property at an appraisement of $1,566.30 and pay the widow interest on one-third of this valuation.

The petition for the dower interest was entered by Hester Lee Loun-Dearth, Lizzie Crumrine and for the use of the children of Mary H. Marshall, William J. Robert and William G. Farshall.

This is the first time in Fayette county that the courts have been asked to determine the question of dower rights in coal land when the surface is owned by other parties.

When 96 acres were sold to Sir H. Smith the dower interest of $2,303.00 was paid. George Higinbotham's interest in the estate was one-sixth leaving a balance of $1,849.17 due. The coal was sold to the Pittsburg Coal Company and the surface remained in the hands of Robert S. Cox and the widow. The surface is still owned by Cox the widow having died since.

GARY GIVES REASONS

Why He Urged No Cut in Prices
Among Independents

NEW YORK, June 5.—The arguments with which Judge Albert H. Gary, chairman of the directors of the United States Steel Corporation, addressed iron and steel manufacturers whom he had here as guests at a luncheon a week ago to discuss the independent ton of the Republic Iron & Steel Company in reducing prices became known yesterday when Judge Gary made public the text of his speech and threw more light up on what occurred behind the closed doors of the dining room at the Metropolitan club where the conference was held.

Judge Gary, in his contention for operation among the steel makers, argued for stability in prices but his argument wishes on the price question were overruled by a general decision to meet the cuts of the Republic company. In the course of his remarks Judge Gary, in chiding upon the practice of waste reductions, the value of fair dealing and frankness among the manufacturers and the right and duties of great corporations in view of the recent supreme court decision in the Standard Oil case.

I have advocated and shall always advocate so long as I believe I have a right to do so, said Judge Gary, the stability of prices, the regulation of business conduct on the part of all that is calculated to recognize and advance the interests of other

I have urged you to remember and I again call attention to the fact that when you make substantial reductions in your prices, you have to take that, I unfair and unscrupulous and you make so little profit that it does not reward you to turn on your investment and you risk you at least place a consideration before you even do it, possible necessity of reducing the cost of production including transportation, if not principally the wages which you are paying or may be allowed to pay to the men or the men in your employ. Do not forget that the living men the employees of the corporations, have more at risk when these questions are considered of reducing prices below what is reasonable and fair than the employer.

Referring to the bombshell time, the Republic company threw into the steel market by reducing prices Judge Gary said:

I would not seek or ask anyone to do anything he believed wrong, legally or morally, but on the other hand, if you do it, I invoke the law to co-operate as in a civil way. It is secret, but under conditions well known and if you do it, I do it so as to make changes as you see fit. He believes it is for his protection's interest for the time being, we have an association with us and desire to give us an information concerning what he is doing, or proposes to do, leaving himself free to go to your customers and name and get the business for himself, regardless of price and securing for himself a customer who has been your customer or some other I do not hesitate to say that so far as I am concerned I am perfectly willing to let him stand outside of the circle of intercourse and I freely can conversation and open and above board fair dealing and frankness in expression but if I have sufficient influence it still not in the least affect the relations of all the rest of us.

In discussing at the outset of his address the Standard Oil decision Judge Gary said that he disagreed with the statements of some people that the Supreme Court had modified the Sherman law but had read into that act the word "unreasonable." He said he was inclined to think that even if that were true, no adoption of that view would do harm to the business interests of the country generally.

The Supreme Court instead of saying that there may be reasonable restriction of trade or reasonable monopolies he believed intended to say that in the application of the law to the facts in a case there must be reason exercised.

POOR FACILITIES

At Somerset Station May End in Damage Suits

SOMERSET June 7.—Wading through water that was ankle-deep in many instances, almost frantically grasping umbrellas which were unable to cope with the density of the unusually heavy precipitation and lightning over the ruins of milliner stores and other forms of warmth apparel passengers at the local B. & O. station yesterday morning experienced great difficulty as well as delayed inevitable inconveniences in boarding the southbound train in the mid-day a day or two earlier as older as any that falls in this vicinity.

Just a few minutes before the train arrived the rain commenced to fall in torrents and during the stop it seemed a near deluge in a cloud. This was followed by screeching among the passengers to get on the coaches. Their umbrellas were rendered of little use to men wading through the muddy water that rushed down the paved platform street hill flooding the tracks and sidewalks at the station to a depth of from two to six or seven inches.

All of the passengers clothing suffered from the drenching and some it claimed was ruined. It is said that damage was not to be instituted as a result of the railroad company in providing shelter for the protection of passengers.

Yesterday's morning's miserable scene it is asserted will tend to bring nearer the promised new station and a better and more rapid railroad for it.

Objections of the Farmers in Franklin and Jefferson Townships.

The appeals of sixteen farmers, fifteen in Franklin and one in Jefferson township, from the assessment of 1909 on farming land were started yesterday morning before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen. The farmers of the two townships claim there has been a discrimination made in favor of coal land and they seek to reach and establish an equitable basis to be followed in the future assessments. The following farmers are appealing:

T. Scott Dunn, 230 acres, assessed at $10,500.

David Cook, 98 acres, assessed at $8,300.

John Frasher, 103 acres, assessed at $8,840.

E. Arnold, 85 acres, assessed at $4,200.

J. O. Strickler, 90 acres, assessed at $2,300.

Emery Lynn, 94 acres, assessed at $2,600.

John Livingston, 92 acres, assessed at $2,870.

Findlay Haggerty, 97 acres, assessed at $1,250, and 46 acres, assessed at $600.

John Shannenfelter, 107 acres, assessed at $4,250, and 17 acres, assessed at $600.

E. C. Smith, 315 acres, assessed at $2,600.

E. A. Lynn, 51 acres, assessed at $2,600.

John Boger, 114 acres, assessed at $2,800.

S. W. Dunn, 86 acres, assessed at $1,250.

A. L. Shoemaker, 13 acres, assessed at $600.

Thomas Arnold, 98 acres, assessed at $2,300.

All these farms are located in Franklin township.

Christian Shuckslager, Jefferson township, 102 acres, assessed at $4,500, six acres assessed at $600, and 120 acres, assessed at $4,200.

It was agreed by the attorneys for both sides to accept the estimate of T. Scott Dunn on the valuation of the coal land. Mr. Dunn placed his estimate at from $2,000 to $2,500 in the Connellsville seam of coal and $1,800 on the Pittsburg seam.

This matter being settled the appeals were taken up. That of T. Scott Dunn was first. This farm contains 280 acres and it was assessed in 1909 at $10,500. Witnesses called said they did not consider the farm worth $55 an acre. This figure was placed on the farm by Mr. Dunn. S. W. Dunn thought the figure a little high. He thought the farm with buildings was worth about $4,000.

The case of A. L. Lynn was next. Mr. Lynn was called. He has 94 acres and he is assessed at $8,300. Mr. Lynn valued his farm at $10 an acre, believing that to be a fair estimate.

T. Scott Dunn was called. He knows the Lynn farm well. He says a farm near the Lynn farm was sold for $12 an acre and he thought $25 or $30 a good price for the Lynn farm.

John B. Frasher was called. He said $25 an acre would be a fair price for the Lynn farm. He valued the buildings on the farm at $1,500. Mr. Lynn placed an estimate on them of $2,000.

David Cook was called. He believed $20 to $25 an acre was a fair price for the land in the Lynn farm. He valued the buildings at $1,000.

Bill Smith valued the farm at $20 to $25 and said $2,000 was a high figure for the buildings. "It's plenty high enough," said Smith.

Ell Arnold said $20 to $25 was enough for the land and that the buildings were not worth $2,000.

John B. Frasher's case was next called. Mr. Frasher has 103 acres, assessed at $3,000 and 96 acres assessed at $3,840. Mr. Frasher said his 103 acre farm was not worth $2,500 as $40 an acre was a good price for the 96 acre farm. The buildings he valued at $600 or $800 on the 103 acre farm and those on the 96 acre farm at from $1,500 to $2,000.

Closing Down of Tin Plate Mill No Cause for Industrial Alarm.

Secretary J. Fred Kurtz of the Chamber of Commerce this morning gave out the following statement:

"Since the announcement was made that the Humbert tin plate mill had shut down for an 'indefinite' period there seems to have been a constantly growing disquiet among the merchants of Connellsville and a perceptible cessation of plans for future work among builders and investors becoming cognizant of this condition, the Chamber of Commerce at once began a quiet but thorough investigation in an effort to learn the precise cause of this unrest and now reports that the shutdown at the tin mill was viewed as a criterion by local people who inferred the same probably plagued shutdowns of other Connellsville industries the tin plate business being considered a reliable barometer of local trade condition."

"Realizing the harm that such sentiment could create, and wishing to find how much truth there was in the belief that there is a possibility of slow times, or even a severe depression industrially in Connellsville, the Chamber of Commerce took prompt steps to get at the root of the matter, and especially to determine the cause for the persistent rumor that the Humbert mill had not only shut down but that the heavy machinery at the plant was being dismantled and shipped elsewhere."

"On last Tuesday Secretary J. Fred Kurtz of the Chamber of Commerce made a personal inspection of the Humbert mill being offered every courtesy in this connection by the local officials and found that all reports concerning the complete shutdown and the shipping away of machinery are absolutely untrue and without foundation. Several large pieces of machinery were shipped recently but these were the broken parts of the engine that ran wild a few weeks ago and dismantled itself, and are being sent away only for repairs. The cause of the engine cylinder head blowing out is traced to the fact that larger operations than ever before were being carried on at the mill and the strain proved too heavy for the engine. The only other part of the equipment that has been shipped away was a pickling stem that went to Sabraton, and this was dispensed with because duplicate pickling tanks were no longer required in the manufacture of the special material which the Humbert mill has been making for the past year."

From every visible indication at the mill it seemed to Mr. Kurtz that, in view of closing down, permanently every preparation was being made to get ready for big business. Several car loads of coal had just arrived, extensive repairs were being made to the annealing furnaces, the system of cold air ventilation had just been extended to include the catchers, a new pump, operated by electricity and pumping 200 gallons per minute, has just been set up, a 30,000 gallon storage tank was built on the elevation just above the mill only last month, and a new steel roof has just been built over the loading platform. Mechanics were busy engaged shaping up old rolls repairing machinery, and getting into first class shape for a resumption of work. As a matter of fact the Humbert mill is now in such excellent physical condition, there are but a few improvements that can be made. It has been ably managed, a good organization has been built up and the standing of this plant compares unusually well with other mills operated by the same company.

As soon as trade conditions warrant starting up, there is no question but that this will be done. The merchants in Connellsville must not over look the fact that large corporations and industries are subject to national influences and conditions just the same as are local business men in order that the outlook for the immediate future in Connellsville other than in tin plate manufacture might be definitely ascertained. The Chamber of Commerce has taken the matter up with other large industries here and will make public the information it has secured from them within the next few days."

Kendall Lumber Co. Makes Purchase Of 11,000 Acres for $300,000.

The deal for the purchase of the timber on the Cheat estate on Cheat river by the Kendall Lumber Company of Pennsylvania, one of the biggest lumber companies of the United States has been closed. The deal involves approximately $300,000 according to counsel who prepared the papers in the case. The exact amount involved cannot be ascertained until after the engineer who is making the survey of the property has reported.

John L. Johnston who is surveying the property, stated yesterday at Morgantown that the field work has been practically completed but that the maps had not been finished as yet. This work will be completed in a few days stated Mr. Johnston. The tract of timber contains about 11,000 acres according to the present survey and the deal is one of the largest of the kind that has been consummated in Northern West Virginia for years.

The Kendall Lumber Company owns thousands of acres of timber in the States of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Washington and in other parts of the United States. The company also owns several thousand acres of virgin timber in Preston county, West Virginia. Surveyors are already at work on the grades for a tramroad to the Irish Spirit, Dynamite, Nitroglycerine, Establish Western Maryland Record.

T. F. Ryan, the Western Maryland contractor at Casselman, expects to complete his more than three mile contract of railroad construction within the next 30 days. Contractor Ryan will be among the very first to finish his contract. He has just taken over an additional mile of excavation work from the contractors west of him which he will tackle with characteristic aggressiveness immediately upon completion of his original contract.

The town of Casselman has been shaken from center to circumference with almost continuous tremors resulting in the seismic jolting of an earth quake since Ryan's presence there because of heavy blasting.

Ryan is a veteran railroad builder and overcame all obstacles encountered in supplying timber's indomitable iron with plenty of dynamite and nitroglycerine as erosion demanded.
